* In South Australia Employees who have been on Workers' Compensation for longer than 52 weeks are no longer entitled to accrue or take Annual Leave as the SA Workers Compensation Act considers the final 4 weeks of the 52 weeks of absence on Workers' Compensation as Annual Leave Taken.

** In New South Wales if the payment for Personal Leave is higher than the Workers Compensation payment, then the payment of Personal Leave will be the difference between the Workers' Compensation Payment and the Personal Leave Payment.

*** In Western Australia Long Service Leave will only accrue for the first 15 days of absence from work.
